We are advised by the British Columbia Forest service that the series of ten bulletins on Farm Building, which they prepared in co-operation with the University of Saskatchewan, have attracted much favorable attention from the agricultural authorities of the province, and also from the farmers who have obtained copies. A number of farm journals are printing extracts from the bulletins for the benefit of their readers. In many ways these bulletins appear to be the best and most comprehensive publications on farm buildings that we have seen. They cover practically the whole range of farm buildings from hen houses to dwelling houses. The bulletins are obtainable free from the Chief Forester of Victoria, B.C., and every farmer will do well to obtain the ones dealing with the buildings in which he is interested.

Rev. McNeiven, last Sabbath, asked for the names of any Methodist young men who had enlisted from the Claresholm district. The reason for this request, which is being made all over the country, is as follows: When a young man enlists he is asked to state his church. In the list of denominations furnished him from which he selects the Church to which he belongs, the name "Methodist" is not found, but the name "Wesleyan" is there. It is thought many have misunderstood this and have not registered themselves under the right denomination. The result has been that the Methodist denomination has not had as many chaplains appointed to its ministers as is its due. The authorities of the Church are trying to discover the exact number of Methodist men in the ranks in order that chaplains from the Church may be appointed in sufficient numbers to look after their interests, and also they are asking for a change in the list of denominations so that the name "Methodist Church" may appear and that no confusion may arise. Some who were present, last Sunday, did not understand just the reason for Mr. McNeiven's request. This, we think, will make it plain.

Mrs. Oli Galdi has had a severe attack of the gripe.

Miss Rigrose from the telephone office and her brother Douglas, are reported on the sick list.

The Sunberg family have been having considerable sickness lately. Some improvement is reported.

Ed. McKay left last week for Rochester to consult a specialist regarding his health, which has not been very satisfactory for some time past.

Farm Wanted—Quarter or half section, within reasonable distance of school, with comfortable dwelling house and farm buildings, to purchase on the crop payment plan. Any farmer who has a place for sale on these terms please report to The Advertiser.

Mr. Sam Treasure entertained a number of friends at his home on Wednesday night. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Strange, Mr. and Mrs. Clark, M. Wall, W. Neilson, S. Lewis, and the Day Bros. An excellent supper was served and the evening was spent in playing carious games and listening to the gramophone skillfully handled by Mr. Strange. All report a very enjoyable evening, and wish long life to Hon. Sam of Claresholm.

General News Notes

Canada has borrowed $250,000,000 for war purposes. Of this amount $100,000,000 was raised in Canada.

Sleep brothers in Alberta are petitioning the provincial Government to restore the bounty for the destruction of coyotes.

Alberta is getting its usual share of sometime while Regina is reported to be in the throes of the worst blizzard in many years.

Another surprise has been given on the people of Manitoba by the report that a million dollars is being sent from the agricultural college. The people of that province certainly did not wake up too soon. We wait with interest the next development.

Announcement is made by the Jiji Shingo that a squadron of Japanese warships will sail for the West coast, presumably to protect Japanese shipping. It is said the armored cruiser—Kasuga, Tokiwa and Chitose have been assigned for this service.

Eugene Coste, of Calgary, denies the report that either he or his company are interested in any scheme to pipe gas to Winnipeg from Alberta. He says the scheme is impracticable, that gas cannot be piped 800 miles, and says the "unit is 220 miles."

It is reported from Paris that the Kaiser has cancer in the throat and is now unable to speak. It looks as if he may escape the allies yet. It might be pleasant than if he wanted to see the complete humiliation of his empire and the frustration of all his hopes.

It is officially announced that there are still over 2,000,000 men of military age in the United Kingdom who did not come forward and offer their services under the Derby scheme. Many of these will, it is now said, be compelled to serve the Empire, whether they wish it or not.

On the first of the year 1916, the United States of the United—Washington, Oregon, Arkansas, Idaho, Colorado, Iowa and South Carolina, all going over to the dry side. Ontario has also lately won a number of victories for good option. During this year Alberta, parts of Quebec, Manitoba and Newfoundland will enforce laws already passed. The year 1916 will be the last year for temperance legislation through-out the world, and yet some are predicting that it will be superseded by the year 1916. John Harley seems evidently doomed.

Not Quite Conscription

When it is decided to call to the colors any attested group under the Earl of Derby's plan, a day will be fixed for the men in that particular group to present themselves at a military depot. Until Monday any untested bachelor of the age stipulated for that group may volunteer for the army and by so doing will escape the stigma of compulsion, but all failing to volunteer on the stipulated day will be fettered.

What Britain Has Done

The New York Herald comments favorably upon the Asquith government. Britain has held the seas, it has raised nearly four million men for fighting, it has financed the war not only for the empire, but for the other nations, it has armed Russia and given her assistance, it has cleared Africa of the Germans with the assistance of France, it has stopped Germany and Austria at every point except in the Balkans, and held Persia, the channel and the United Kingdom safe.

Dawson-Haslam

On Wednesday of this week an interesting wedding took place at the home of H. O. Haslam, Harrier of this town, when Mr. Sidney A. Dawson was united in matrimony to Miss Ethel Rose Haslam. The wedding took place at 5 o'clock. Rev. McNiell being the officiating clergyman. Quite a number of friends were present and spent a very enjoyable time. After lunch the happy couple took train for Calgary.

Mr. Dawson is manager of the Dominion Bank at High River. He was the last manager in charge of the Dominion Bank in Claresholm. The Advertiser congratulates Mr. Dawson on his happy choice, and wishes them both a very happy and prosperous life.

Successful Carnival

A carnival was held in the skating rink on Wednesday of this week. A large number of pretty costumes appeared on the ice and there was an extra number of visitors present. Miss Noble, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, won the Ladies prize, Mr. Porter, a college student, won the first gentlemen's prize, Master Reynolds received the boy's prize, and Miss Florence Carney was awarded the girls prize.

The judges were Messrs. MacCormick, Simpson, McNiell and Mosley. Arrangements are being made for another carnival in about three weeks, when it is expected a still bigger and better affair will be presented and to the enjoyment.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor Claresholm Advertiser—Notice in your paper of last week an article stating that the coal dealers were to blame for not stocking up a winter supply, and while undoubtedly many do not provide for the benefit of the public, I would like to say that every year I make every possible arrangement to have coal on hand for reserve winter supply. At the beginning of this season the Galt coal sheds were full to capacity, and at one time there were four cars of Galt coal on the siding, in addition to the amount in storage, on which the C.P.R. demurrage charges were $1 per day. As soon as the mines cut off the regular supply this storage was gone in two weeks, and we are now about five cars behind on our deliveries, such amount I could sell right away, for the public will buy no other coal but the Galt when it is available. I have two sites rented for sheds on the C.P.R. right of way in order to try and fully meet the needs of the public, so that the shortage for the year so far as Claresholm is concerned cannot be put upon the shoulders of Yours truly,

J. Wm. HALLETT.

U.F.A. Convention

Will be a Large One

The programs for the United Farmers convention and also that of the Women's Auxiliary, which will be held in Calgary, January 18-21, are not yet completed, according to secretary Woodbridge, but the secretary says that every preparation is being made for good conventions. It has not yet been decided where the convention will meet. The delegates will be made welcome by Mayor Costello, representing the city, and by Hon. Duncan Marshall, representing the province. Special arrangements are being made for the entertainment of visitors of which there promises to be a large number.

Even Santa Claus Feels the Effect of European War

Photos by American Press Association.

1—Old man making Christmas toys in New York. 2—Painting the chickens. 3—Modeling from clay. 4—Trimming the woodwork. 5—Interior view of workshop. 6—The completed product.

So securely has the European war gripped the entire world that even the north pole failed to escape. Santa just had to fall in line with the trend of modern times and turn out munitions of war, including aeroplanes, instead of the usual toys. In a factory he employed only old and decrepit men—those too old to engage in more active work—and for months past they have been making all kinds of toys for the children. And they have been enabled to introduce their own children to Santa. There will be no disappointment when Christmas morning arrives and the youngsters at home steal from their beds at sunrise to see if their tree has blossomed into toys overnight. War or no war, the American agents of Santa Claus are busy preparing for Christmas, and the branches of the tree will be as heavy as ever. But that's impossible, you say. Toysland is a dependency of the German empire, and, although Toysland has maintained a strict neutrality throughout the war, the effects of the terrible struggle are just as evident there as in any other country in the world. Germany contains the toy shops of the world, and now that Germany is busy with her enemies American children will have to do without them. This is where you make your mistake. Toysland is no German province, but a world empire itself, with as many colonies and big cities in the United States as anywhere else under the sun. Figures show that there are 28 toy establishments in this country, producing $4,000,000 worth of toys, or just one-half of the total American consumption. Moreover, the output includes some of the most popular toys that have been devised. Consider imitation uniforms. It would naturally be thought that Germany, great military nation that she is, would supply soldier suits for the entire world, but, as a matter of fact, America almost alone provides these for her children. Again, no one would blame you if you thought that all toy musical instruments in the world came from Germany, the home of music and song, but you would be quite mistaken. The tiny wooden pianos that have charmed us all with their silvery tones are made in Philadelphia, and they are exported to all parts of the world. Wooden dolls with almost living faces and bumpy dumpty crowns of animals whose repulsive of tricks you can't exhaust are from the same source. Very good, you say, but what about the other $4,000,000 that do come from abroad? There must be some virtue in toys made in Germany or America that would not import so many of them despite a 15 per cent duty. Lead soldiers and the dainty blonde dolls and the diminutive automobiles and ever-so-many inexpensive toys that are fashioned from metal all come from the Black Forest and from famous Nuremberg. Will the children have to go without these gifts, of which they seem never to grow weary?

From the looks of things old Santa has been unusually ingenious during the last twelve months. He has fitted his toyland with new faces and forms. New armies appear in the annual kingdom; dolls look different; mechanical toys have seen many changes; trains look different, and run differently; aerial toys have entered the field; there are new kinds of games and new innovations in a hundred and one other parts of the toy kingdom.

This is not to say that the array of things that have made up toysland heretofore is not to be found. Nearly everything that has caused merriment and joy in years past is to be found again this time, but there are so many new things that the general aspect of the happy toyland is different. The practical, instead of articles of mere amusement, predominates among toys this year. Things meant to cause

New "Glider" Skims Above Water at Speed Of Fifty Miles an Hour, Breaking Records

The Yolanda II, on Her First Trip.

A "GLIDER" is something new in the world of the hydroplane variety. Imagine driving a high-powered automobile over the surface of the water at fifty miles an hour and you have a fair idea of what riding in a glider is like. You are not flying, but you are doing something much more fascinating than motorboating and are about as safe. The Yolanda II, the first "glider" ever built in America, made its trial trip down the Hudson river recently. It covered the twenty-two miles from New York in a few seconds more than half an hour, and it ran so smoothly that the eight passengers sat round in easy chairs inside the big limousine body as comfortable as if they had been riding in a private car.

over the best laid road in the United States. Nothing could be more simple in construction. Take an unbreakable life raft made of six cork filled pontoons, fit it with a front rudder, a steering wheel, and an ordinary automobile steering wheel, and at the stern mount two big retractable blades, and you have a machine that skims over the surface of the water at almost any speed. When not in motion the Yolanda II, like the motor car, is riding on the water, and at the stern mount two big retractable blades, and you have a machine that skims over the surface of the water at almost any speed. When not in motion the Yolanda II, like the motor car, is riding on the water, and at the stern mount two big retractable blades, and you have a machine that skims over the surface of the water at almost any speed.

der water seemed ahead. The air driven boat, it is predicted, will revolutionize river navigation. No matter how shallow, every stretch of canal is a potential highway open for the most rapid kind of transit. Every river is a road—a road that will never wear out and never need repair. The Yolanda II, the idea of a wealthy Colombian, Baron Gumpel Malia, who some years ago determined to supply a quick river service between the Magdalena river between Bogota and the coast, about 450 miles. It came to the United States, but the capitalists here saw not his idea of a better and faster mode of transport. After an hour and drawing only a few inches of water was impracticable. One day he saw a dispatch saying that in a test of a hydroplane in France the machine had skinned along the surface of the water at high speed several hundred yards before rising in the air. He at once wrote to Louis Bleriot, the French aviator, and asked him if a boat could not be built on the idea of aeriplane propulsion, but to glide on the water. Bleriot said he thought it could, and Malia took the next steamer for Paris.

Bleriot built a boat to meet Mr. Malia's specifications, and although it made forty-six miles an hour, it was not commercially practical. It was a one passenger affair and too light to bear packing and transportation to Colombia. He had another boat built on stronger lines, which he took with him to South America and tested on the Magdalena. But the French constructor had relied upon a submerged screw in addition to the air propeller, and the boat drew too much water and was too small for his purpose.

Hearing that the Count de Lambert, who had seen his Bleriot speed boat, was making experiments with a pontoon glider and had formed a company to manufacture the "bateaux ailerons de Lambert," Mr. Malia went back to Paris in 1914 to see the new boat and get a modified model for use in Colombia, but the war broke out, and the motor orders were taken by the French government. Mr. Malia then went to New York and met Dr. Lashapelle, a boat builder and engineer of Nyack, who designed and built the Yolanda II.

The boat was shipped to Colombia and was used by the military and government officials from the capital to the coast. It will make the trip nearly in two days instead of seven days that the rear paddle wheel boats now use.

PREDICTS 20,000,000 DEATHS

"Two years of war will mean the total destruction of the lives of 20,000,000 persons in Europe," said Dr. Louis Pasteur, speaking at the Royal Society Institute in London.

Dr. Pasteur advanced the encouragement of personal prudence among the people. He forecast a serious rise in the death rate and great misery in the next year or two. It would be far better, he said, for many children that have never been born, he said. The only way to avoid the war was by a very sharp fall in the birth rate now.

amusement have taken a back seat, while things which cause study, work or amusement along practical lines, as well as amuse and enjoyment, occupy the foreground and are expected to meet with the best results in the coming Christmas rush.

Mechanical construction toys, engendered with interesting parts, force that arouse curiosity, dolls that cause little girls to learn about dress and care, games that cause study, research and concentration; doll houses which have parts that create interest in house-keeping, animals which cause interest and study and toys of all classes which have something more than idle amusement in their makeup are raised in the stores as the best sellers.

Nobody so watches the trend of the store as does old Santa Claus, and there is no better place to note procedure in world affairs than in his toylands. In the mighty workshop in the foggy north some of the greatest breaks in the world are busy showing new toys for the coming holiday season. As result there is but little new in the world that does not make its mark in Toyland in the form of something to entertain or educate the youngsters of the country.

Wonderful changes in dolls are noted this year. Character babies with skin, hair, moving eye teeth and tongues and other new and distinguishing features hold full swing. The old china doll is a back number, as are also a great number of the toys of the character dolls and babies.

LOCAL NEWS OF TOWN AND DISTRICT

BY OUR STAFF REPORTER

GRANUM, ALBERTA, JAN. 6, 1918

Mrs. West is away visiting friends for a few weeks.

Miss Jennie MacBain, of Shepley is visiting with Mr. R. A. Richards.

Mr. R. A. Hedges made a flying visit to Pincher Creek this week.

Mrs. and Miss Jeffrey were visitors to Claresholm on Monday last.

D. D. Farmer, the Hardware merchant, has gone to Winchester, Ontario, for a few weeks.

Mrs. A. C. Choquette, of Lethbridge, was visiting with Mr. and Mrs. MacDougall during New Year.

The Sunday School entertainment announced in last week's paper was postponed owing to sickness among the children.

Rev. Mrs. McInnis, who has been in Calgary hospital for some weeks, returned home this week greatly improved in health.

A number of Granum young people attended the Red Cross dance at Claresholm, and reported an excellent time.

Mr. J. W. Cochran and R. E. Lepard spent New Year in Calgary. It is reported that Mr. Lepard will return a hunter.

Mr. L. Chamberlain, of the Western Canada Lumber Co.'s head office was in town Thursday and Friday taking stock at the Company's yard.

Mrs. Sengulath has been very ill but is now improving. Her three sons Francis, from Spill; Amil, from Red Deer River; and Felix, from the Blood Reserve, have been home visiting.

A Patriotic Dance, under the auspices of the Royal Neighbors, was given in the Hall on New Year's Eve. Forty dollars of the proceeds were paid over to the Patriotic Fund. Everyone reported an enjoyable time.

Mr. F. Patterson, formerly of Granum, is expected on Wednesday, to visit friends here for a few days. Mr. Patterson has been for some time engaged for the White Dry Goods Co., of Winnipeg. His old friends will be glad to see him again.

Mr. Ellis has opened up a shoe repair shop in town. Mr. Ellis used to be a boot and shoe manufacturer in the old land and consequently should be able to do good work. We expect the new shoe shop will be patronized. Mr. Ellis was for a short time working with Moore and Brown.

We were pleased to hear that our old friend Mr. J. Lennox has taken to himself a wife. Better late than never. We felt bad at not being invited to the wedding. However, the Advertiser wishes our friend a long life and a happy one.

Mr. Lennox is now having a glorious time on his honeymoon trip.

A Government official was in town a few days ago, and met the school board to discuss the forming of a consolidated school district in Granum. The schools concerned would be Granum, Oak Bush, Clinch, and Elm Lake. It is expected that a joint meeting of the Boards will be held in the near future to discuss the plan proposed. We understand that the government offers an extra grant of $100 for each school that comes in. The Consolidated school wherever it has been tried has proved a success, and is undoubtedly the school of the future.

Already over 500 have joined the Jay-Canadian regiment now being recruited.

During the blizzard on Tuesday, at Moose Jaw, the Moose Jaw local train plunged into the Trinity Express a mile east of the city. A fireman and a passenger were killed outright and 11 were injured. The accident was due to an error on the part of a switchman at Moose Jaw.

The Kicking Horse

Nothing is more objectionable and dangerous to have about the farm than a kicking horse. There is always the possibility of injury being done to man or beast. When one is faced with the necessity of curing a horse of this habit, the nuisance becomes more apparent. Kicking in the stall is probably the most common form, and it is just possible that if a cure can be effected here the horse will remember the lesson while in harness or on pasture. An English farmer claims a simple cure for the habit of kicking in the stable. He says: "I filled a stout sack with sand and hung it from the ceiling at the back of the stall near enough to the horse so that his heels could reach it easily. This 'pendulum' swung with clock-like precision as soon as the horse began to make play with his heels on it. At the first kick the bag swung away, only to return with more force and gave the animal much more than he wanted. This unexpected result caused the horse to kick out more viciously, but each time the bag returned and repaid with interest. Finally, the horse, realizing that kicking only meant more punishment, stopped. The bag hung in the same place for a week, but he never troubled it again."

The principle applied in this case is probably the only one that could be relied upon to effect a permanent cure without injury to the horse. The horse is not thrown off his feet, nor are his movements hampered by stops, and yet the cure is ready for application at the first kick. It would be better to try something of this nature than to be inconvenienced by a troublesome kicking horse.

January wheat was quoted at $1.22, on Wednesday.
